ACT schools end 12 year spell

The ACT Schoolboys soccer team broke a 12-year drought when they took out the 2001 National Secondary Schools Soccer championships held in Gosford last week.

The team went undefeated during the competition and lead the goalscoring count and conceded the least number of goals in their four wins and one draw.

Five ACT players were named in the Australian team and a further in the Australan shadow team.

The ACT's Wayne Heath also won the coveted "Peter Grguric" medal for the Player of the Tournament from Simon Bernadino (SA) and Chris Tadrosse (NSW).

The final positions in the tournament were not decided until the last day of matches which saw NSW, Western Australia and the ACT with a chance of taking out first place.

In the end however, the ACT beat WA with a convincing 4-0 win to take the championships, followed by NSW in 2nd place and Victoria coming third.

The full Australian team was announced at the end of the tournament : Nathan Denham, Wayne Heath, Alex Brosque, Robbie Cattanach, Matt Menser (ACT); Michael Arena, Matthew Osman, Chris Tadrosse, Adam Kwasnick (NSW), Steve Esposito, Robert Carchedi, Steve Mancevski (Vic), Thomas Willis, Chris Burley (Qld), Simon Bernadino (SA), Shane Nunes (WA).

Osman named as Futsal national coach for Tiger Fives

SUNDAY morning saw the first session of trials to select a squad to represent Australia in the Tiger World 5s in Singapore this November.

Immediatelv upon acceptance of Australia as a competitor in this prestigous tournament, the Board of Australian Indoor Soccer (Futsal Five-a-Side) Assodation Inc. (AISFA) moved to swiftly to put into practice its policy to openly select officials for the tour.

The team itself uvitl be selected by the coaches using objective criteria, without interference from the board.

Following an extensive interview and assessment process, the Board has made the following appointments; Erkin Osman head coach; Brad Crighton - Assistant Coach; Bruce Thurlow Assistant Coach (CoalKeepers) and Con Tsokos - Manager.

Osman has had a playing career spanning from 1983 to 1994 including 4 World Cups, and involvement in coaching Futsal Indoor Soccer since 1988 including club and tnternational touring teams

Crighton a teacher from Dapto has had coaching positions in outdoor and indoor soccer since 1993 and has been a selector since I998.

Bruce Thurlow has been playing represenranve Funal indoor Soccer since 1985 arid has represented Australia on seven tours including 4 World Cups.

Bruce has been coaching since I988.

Con Tsokos has been coaching and managing Futsal Indoor Soccer teams since 1988 and has had top level managerial experience in the sport since 1994, including leading the Australian squad to 4 World Cup competitions.

The coaches have been charged by the board to mould the squad into the best team ever to represent Australia.

The Tiger Fives is the first step on the path to realise the vision for Indoor Soccer to be the number one indoor sport in Australia and a major force in the world.

CLUB WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS TO RETURN IN 2003

FIFA are set to resurrect the Club World Championships in 2003 and increase the number of competing teams from eight to 16.

The proposal, which must be ratified by the Executive Committee during its next meeting on December 1, forms part of the Organisational Committee's plans for the troubled competition.

The bankruptcy of FIFA's media partner ISMM/ISL forced the second annual competition, due to be held in Spain this summer, to be cancelled.

Only eight teams took part in the inaugural championship, won by Corinthians in Brazil.

The 12 sides due to appear in Spain will all be paid 750,000 US dollars (£525,000) in compensation from FIFA, while the Spanish FA will receive one million US dollars (£700,000).

The exact dates of the 2003 Club World Championship are to be decided, although it will be held either between mid-January and mid-February, or between mid-July and mid-August.

Spain are the likely hosts.

HURST ADMITS NO GOAL

GEOFF Hurst has admitted for the first time that his controversial second goal in England's 1966 World Cup final victory over West Germany should not have been allowed. The second of Hurst's three goals in a 4-2 extra-time win struck the underside of the crossbar before bouncing out but was adjudged by a Russian linesman to have crossed the line.

"Having listened to all the arguments over the decades and watched the replay hundreds of times on television, I have to admit that it looks as though the ball didn't cross the line," said Hurst in an extract from his book published in the Daily Mail newspaper.

OFFICAL YOUTH DEVELOPMENT PARTNER OF MANCHESTER UNITED IN OCEANIA

Knop brings the broom out as he sweeps Soccer Australia

by Bruce Campbell

AUSTRALIAN football is demanding changes - and new NSL chairman Ian Knop went through a whirlwind week at the helm of the struggling peak body as he gave glimpses to what kind of future he intends to bring.

Those who know Knop well recognise that he is a man who sweeps quickly and will not let sentiment get in the way as he seeks to alter the course of what is not a sleeping giant but an almost totally dead corpse.

Knop is the first to admit that, and said as much in his post election victory speech, a speech which struck chords with countless football supporters throughout the country.

And as exclusively predicted in SuperSoccer some weeks ago SA CEO David Woolley was the major victim of Knop's winds of change policy.

"I have made more decisions in the last few days than I have for a long, long time," said Knop of his debut week in the hot seat.

"There are a lot more to come and I know that a lot of them won't be popular but we will do them just the same.

"I won't be playing a political hand, I will be doing what I believe is right for the game."

In his first season as chairman of the Canberra Cosmos, Ian Knop had four different general managers - and that didn't include the one sacked just as he was taking the chair.

He didn't get it right in the short term but that didn't stop him pushing and shoving until he got the club on an even keel.

Knop knows that he won't be as popular come Christmas as he is now - but he doesn't care.

"I'm going to get this job done," he said.

"We have all suffered too long.

"The fans deserve better.

"Everybody deserves better."

In an exclusive interview with SuperSoccer the man who is still a largely unknown quantity to most in the game revealed that he still has some sweeping to do, including a long and hard look at SA's notoriously slack media and marketing department.

The new chairman has promised that a meeting between the senior soccer media and Soccer Australia will take place, something that I have agitated for with little success for the last six months.

"I know how important the soccer media is," he said at the weekend in a frank and revealing interview, "and I will call a meeting as soon as I can.

"Already I have someone working on it."

And following a meeting of the National Soccer League clubs last week, Soccer Australia has advised that the NSL Executive has been disbanded.

An NSL Members Commission has been established in its place.

The NSL Commission will be comprised of a 14-man board, with each member being a senior representative of the affiliate NSL clubs, and chartered with the responsibility of guiding the National League to become the dominant sporting competition in Australia.

The Commission will meet on a monthly basis, with the location being rotated according to the cities represented in the NSL, and the Chairman of Soccer Australia and/or a Soccer Australia Board member will be present at each meeting.

"This is a significant step forward for the National League as it is critical for the clubs to take control of their own future," said Ian Knop.

"The new NSL Commission will show the supporters, stakeholders and corporate community that, together with the Board of Soccer Australia, we can progress our premier competition."

The Commission will identify numerous key issues associated with the National League, such as Marketing, Player Relations, Financial Management and Stadium facilities, and will work towards improving these areas.

In addition, the Commission will encourage the introduction of individuals to the meetings, who have specific skills and areas of expertise in the key areas identified, to benefit the clubs and NSL.

The NSL Executive, which has been in existence since the early 1980s, comprised seven elected representatives from the NSL clubs, acted in an advisory capacity to the Board of Soccer Australia on behalf of the NSL.

There is no place on the commission for the Professional Footballers Association in the short term.

And the other major announcement of a week full of announcements was the appointment of the Honourable Nick Greiner AC as the new President of Soccer Australia.

Greiner's appointment comes after the position was made vacant at February's AGM by outgoing President the Honourable Neville Wran AC QC.

Greiner, a former Premier and Treasurer of NSW, was delighted to accept the position and is looking forward to the challenge of his Presidency.

"This is a great opportunity, and I'm looking forward to working with Ian Knop and his team," Mr Greiner said.

"I wouldn't be here if I didn't think there was a good chance for the code to increase it's share in the market.

"However, I don't delude myself about the simplicity or ease of the task ahead of us, given the obvious potential of the game."

Soccer Australia Chairman Mr Ian Knop was excited by the prospect of a productive term with the new President, who will be called upon to consult the Chairman and Board of Directors on key issues such as corporate sponsorship and the overall governance of the game.

"I envisage a fantastic working partnership with Mr Greiner, in particular with his corporate, political and worldly expertise," Mr Knop said.

Mr Greiner is currently involved with numerous high-profile companies, and was a Director of the Sydney Organising Committee for the 2000 Olympic Games.

FOOTBALL WEEKLY FORUM

THERE are only a few more months until we find out whether Australia can finally gain a place in the World Cup and be up there with the giants of world football. Or will we have to wait another agonising four years to become part of this elite group.

An importing factor in the path Australia face is the first leg being played at the MCG. Does the MCG bring back too many bad memories of Iran '97, or do the Socceroos have to overcome their demons if they want to be a successful force in future years?

Is the MCG the right environment for a football match or do the people of Sydney, as the biggest footballing state deserve the right to cheer on their country in their city? Is Melbourne the right venue for Australia's first leg against the fifth placed South Americans?

ADAM LETO asks the questions ....

Sydney Football Stadium: Lee Sterrey's preferred football venue

Lee Sterrey (Marconi):
"I think that a lot of the Stadiums in this country aren't suited for soccer.

"There should be more grounds being built in Australia that can fully cater for the sport.

"They need to firstly be able to hold a greater number of supporters with a good view, and secondly must be able to be suited to soccer and not have a cricket pitch in the middle.

"If you look at all the grounds in Europe the whole crowd is basically on top of the players.

"Here we have these multi-purpose stadiums like the MCG or Homebush where you need binoculars to see the game.

"If I had to pick I'd probably go with the Sydney Football Stadium as being the best ground for football."

Jim Fraser (Former Socceroo):
"Well the last time they played it in Melbourne because Sydney didn't have a stadium that could fit that many people.

"Now that we have a stadium at Homebush that can fit as many people as Melbourne I don't see why it shouldn't be played in Sydney.

"The atmosphere was brilliant in Melbourne last time and from a business point of view they are guaranteed a large crowd."

John Turner (Fairfield Bulls):
"Personally I'd like the game to be played in Sydney, just for the fact that I'd like to go and watch it.

"Nothing against Melbourne, but I just think that to be fairer, Sydney should have it because Melbourne had it last time.

"We have the facilities here, and the pitch would be in great condition so I think that Sydney should've been given a go."

Brian Brown (NSW and Blacktown):
"I'm all for the match being played in Melbourne.

"I went to the last game in Melbourne and it was the first time in Australia that I had felt that I had been to a real game of football.

"The atmosphere was terrific, and although you're a little bit away from the action, the feeling was still electric.

"You need the big grounds for the big games, and from the people who I've talked to they're just keen to watch the match no matter where it is."

Bulls on song for finals run

By Adam Leto

IN an up-and-down season it's hard to predict who will beat who or who will win what.

The Fairfield Bulls have shown throughout this season that they are one of the most devastating teams in the competition.

They have plenty of depth in key positions and despite looking scratchy over the past few weeks, over 90 minutes will still provide a tough challenge for opposing finalists.

Their 14-game unbeaten run has been one of a number of highlights for the Fairfield team, as well as beating fellow finalists Rockdale 6-0.

Coach John Turner explains the ups and downs of this season.

"Up until a few weeks ago, our discipline was excellent and had only had one player suspended," he says.

"In the space of 10 days we have had a total lack of discipline, with players getting sent off and picking up yellow cards.

"Combined with the injuries we've had it has really hurt us."

Heading into the finals the Bulls have a number of injury concerns with key players but Turner is adamant that come finals time it will be a fully fit Bulls side taking the field.

"It would've been nice to win the league, and then have a week off to rest a few of the players," Turner explains.

"But the boys will be alright, finals football brings out the best in players and we have the players who have been there before and know what it takes.

"Any of the sides can beat any other side on their day and every club that has reached the finals is very good."

Turner believes that his side's slump is over and the Bulls have turned the corner.

This could be bad news for the opposition, with the Bulls being the most attacking side in the league.

They flexed their muscles with a comprehensive 6-0 drubbing of Hurstville last week.

"We should've won that game 15-0," a frank Tuner admits.

"It was no good just going out there and beating them one or two nil.

"We had to go out there and prove to ourselves we had turned the corner and had found our form again.

"After the Dulwich Hill game, I really got up the boys and talked about their discipline.

"All sides go through slumps at one stage throughout the season, but we're over ours for sure.

"Since that game we've turned it around and we're back on song."

Despite not winning the league, Turner is still positive in finishing the year off with some type of silverware.

"In my mind I had wanted to finish first because that is the most consistent team for the year," he says.

"But if you can't reach the top shelf you grab onto the second one.

"I've been in three grand finals before and lost all three.

"There's no pressure on me, I know what has to be done if we're to win it.

"What wins grand finals is mental toughness and staying patient.

"We're going out there to score goals and were not going to change the way we play our game.

"The best form of defence is attack, and we're not going out there frightened to play.

"I believe that when the Fairfield Bulls are on song there is no team in the league that can beat us."

Lions roaring home

By Adam Leto

HEADING into the finals, first placed Bankstown City Lions have been most professional when it comes to winning games this season.

Whilst they haven't played the prettiest football the Lions have got the results that matter, and their position on the ladder at the end of the regular season is proof of that.

The Lions run in to the finals has seen them go unbeaten in their past seven games, a statistic that is largely due to their uncompromising defence.

Coach Claudio Canosa is unconcerned about his side's lack of destructive ability.

"We're looking forward to the finals and have a very positive attitude," Canosa explains.

"We're not looking too much ahead at this stage and will take each game as it comes.

"At the moment things are looking very good for us because our fitness level is excellent and we have a full squad to choose from."

Among those returning to the Lions squad is scoring ace Jimmy Aschner, who although has been hampered throughout the competition with injuries, is now back to full fitness.

"I'm not too worried about us not scoring that many goals," Canosa admits.

"We are creating a lot of chances and that is the most important thing.

"In many of the matches that we have played in we have plenty of opportunities to score goals, but sometimes we just can't put them away.

"But we have as much strike power up front as any other team, including Fairfield Bulls.

"We have Gomez, the Issa boys, Macdonald has been scoring goals, plus we have Aschner coming back."

It appears as though the patient, defence-oriented style that the Lions play may well be suited to the finals that many people are expecting.

In games that don't often produce too many goals, the Lions stout defence could prove vital.

"We play as a team, defend as a team and attack as a team," Canosa says.

"You can't dominate teams all the time, especially in finals.

"So as long as we get the result, that's what matters.

"We're in good form at the moment, and if we can continue it we will do well."

In a side that doesn't contain the big-name players that other sides possess, Canosa is adamant that his troops will more than match it with the more experienced teams such as Manly, Rockdale and Fairfield.

"All of the top teams are dangerous, but we are all very even," he says.

"We're not nervous and are looking forward to the challenge of playing against these teams.

"If we continue to improve and stay healthy then we can match it with any team."

The core of this Lions squad has been together for a number of years now, and combined with a solid defence and Josevski in goals will lay the foundation for their success in the finals.

Suns shine through the clouds

By Adam Leto

THIS season the Rockdale Suns have proven that they are the one of the strongest teams in the league.

And this is ignoring the fact that they have had current and former NSL players representing the club.

At the end of the day it's results that matter, and regardless of the names appearing on the team-sheet, the Suns have got the runs on the board and will be tough to knock over in the finals.

The big-spending club has made no secret of its desire to win this season's Super League, and coach Mile Todoroski is aware that his players need to perform.

"If it was up to me I wouldn't change too much," Todoroski explains.

"But sometimes you need to change things, and try different things if they don't go the way you had planned.

"The club wants success and to win the competition.

"The committee, the club and myself have worked together to get a team that is capable of doing that."

The skill and flair that Rockdale possess is not questionable, but consistency is one area that has let them down this season.

League leaders for a number of weeks throughout the season, the Suns were in danger of missing the finals altogether up until a few weeks ago.

Their draw against Macarthur, coupled with a fast-moving AC United nearly saw Rockdale's season finish early.

But their win against Many followed by their defeat of United has kick-started Rockdale's run into the finals.

"I'm happy with how things are going at the moment," Todoroski explains.

"Every team in the finals are very strong and to make it to the Grand Final we're going to have to play well.

"If I had to choose, I'd like to play Bankstown in the Grand Final, and it should be a big crowd that turns up.

"But I think that Fairfield are the number one team to beat.

"Bankstown do have a team that has been together for a few years, and Manly and Dulwich Hill are strong too."

Todoroski's job will be made all the more difficult without key defender Richard Plesa who is trailing in Sweden.

He could also be without goalkeeper Amir Ajanovic who has been approached to trial in Bolivia.

"Plesa is a big loss, as he has been our general at the back, without him it will be very difficult," Todoroski says.

"Ajanovic's situation is quite amazing and to lose him is costly also.

"This guy was playing park soccer for the past couple of years, this is his first season back at Super League.

"He's had a great year with us, then out of nowhere comes this thing in Bolivia.

"What can you do but accept it and wish him the best of luck."

Todoroski has tried to instill a more professional approach in his players this season and it seems to have rubbed off.

"Soccer is a much more professional sport these days and players need to work," he says.

"You take Leo Carle, he has always been a talented player, but this season he has really worked hard.

"Now he is running much more, dribbling, tackling, he has been a big surprise.

"Talent means nothing if you don't work.

"People think that its better to have a player that is 90 percent skill and 10 percent worker.

"It should be the other way around. It's better to have a player that works for 90 percent and has 10 percent skill."

Japan and Australia to field home based national sides

JAPAN goes into Wednesday's international friendly against Australia without star midfielder Hidetoshi Nakata and five other internationals based with foreign clubs.

"It is an important period for them. Five of the six players have joined new clubs recently and they have to concentrate on their jobs, so I didn't call them," French head coach Philippe Troussier said.

"It is a big chance for Japan that they play for overseas clubs.

"Nakata has played some big games there, and others will have their experiences within the following six months.

"The national team for the World Cup next year is now 90 percent complete, and it will improve further when they gain experiences from big games overseas."

Nakata recently moved from AS Roma to Italian rivals Parma, Shinji Ono signed up with Dutch club Feyenoord, Junichi Inamoto joined English giants Arsenal and Akinori Nishizawa signed for Bolton Wanderers of the English Premier League.

Troussier also said he did not summon Hiroshi Nanami, the winner of the most valuable player award when Japan won the Asian Cup in October last year, as the Jubilo Iwata midfielder was recovering from a recent operation.

Shunsuke Nakamura who was forced to miss the recent Confederations Cup and Kirin Cup due to injury returns to the squad.

The Socceroos flew out of Sydney at the weekend with coach Frank Farina pleased his squad's progress in camp at Valentine Park.

Farina added National Youth players Wayne Srhoj and Jade North (Sydney Olympic), Ahmad Elrich, Mark Byrnes & Brett Holman (Parramatta Power) and Carl Valeri (A.I.S) to the camp.

"The game against Japan is a good opportunity for us to get some more games on the board before the two-legged qualifier in November," Farina said.

"This is also a great chance for the boys to stake their claim for a spot in the upcoming matches.

"Although there have only been two light training sessions so far, the players all look to be in good shape, and that is the most important thing."

The inaugural AFC (Asia Football Confederation) / OFC (Oceania Football Confederation) Challenge Cup will be held in the Japanese city of Shizuoka, one of the venues for next year's 2002 FIFA World Cup.

The Challenge Cup is being contested as a one-off match in 2001, but in future the competition between the respective Confederation champions will be played on a home-and-away basis.

Japan qualified for the Challenge Cup after winning the Asian Cup in Lebanon at the end of last year.

Australia won the right to represent Oceania after defeating New Zealand in the final of the OFC Nations Cup in Tahiti over 12 months ago.

Thommo pleads for extension

FORMER Australian national coach Eddie Thomson has taken a shot at the new-look Soccer Australia board as his former protege faces the very real threat of the sack unless Australia qualify for the next World Cup finals.

Thomson was quoted in the Sydney newspaper The Daily Telegraph as saying that Farina deserves a long-term contract to build up the national side.

"Ian Knop hasn't been involved in the game that long and, while he talks about cleaning up the tarnished image, reviewing management positions and attracting corporate sponsors, he must realise that national coach Farina and his assistant Graham Arnold are the jewels," Thomson was quoted as saying in the paper.

"Knop shouldn't be waiting for the outcome of Australia's battle with the fifth-placed South American team later in the year before a decision is made whether to retain the pair.

"By not giving them a vote of confidence now could be too late if the Socceroos do qualify for next year's finals in Korea and Japan.

"Not only will it be a massive windfall for the federation if Farina masterminds Australia's first finals appearance since 1974, but he'll be in huge demand by other countries, especially those from the Middle East.

"Soccer Australia won't have the financial resources to keep Farina in the country.

"There will be offers coming Frankie's way that he won't be able to refuse. It's a fact of life."

The contracts of Farina and his assistant expire on November 30.

Doszpot under attack from locals

by Bruce Campbell

FRESH controversy has hit out at embattled NSL side Canberra Cosmos as new coach Antonio Alzamendi prepares to have his first trials.

Local ACT league club coaches are incensed at the way the coaching job vacancy was handled when the club could not come to terms with former coach Mike Milovanovic.

"They say that there was a short list," a disgruntled local coach told Super Soccer, "but that just isn't true.

"How can you have a short list when the position was never advertised?

"They might have made up their own short list but there wasn't even a single local coach on it.

"The ACT have a number of quality coaches but they are always overlooked.

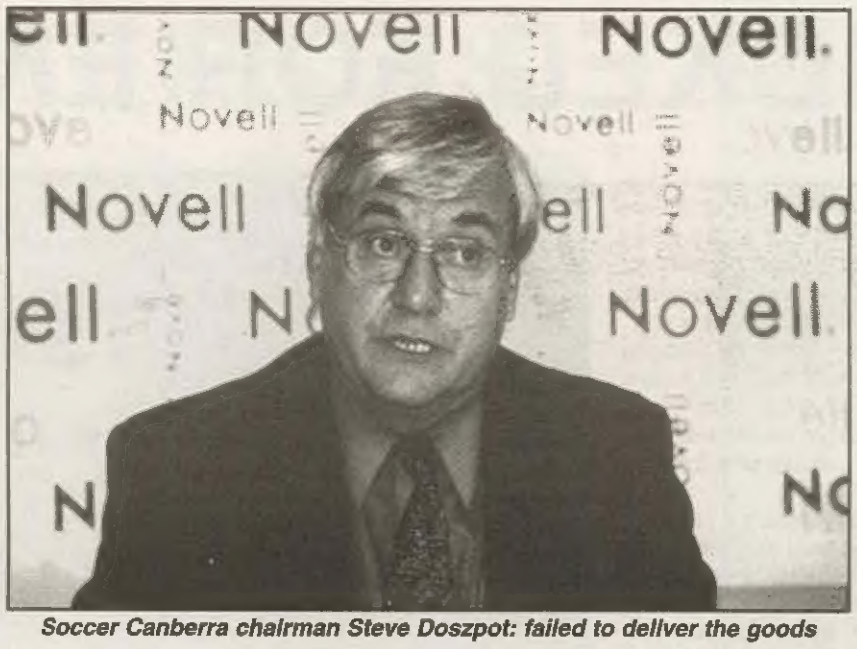
"To make matters worse, Alzamendi can't even speak English.

"He is using Gaby Wilks as an interpreter but there are allegations that Wilks is involved as an illegal player-agent. The game in Canberra is in a total shambles."

Former Sydney Olympic and Parramatta midfielder Walter Ardone is one of a number of players looking to get a start at the troubled club.

Leo Carle is also hoping to re-ignite his own NSL career at the Cosmos while a number of Victorian State League players are said to be targets for the Cosmos.

Also coming under fire at the specially convened meeting of ACT coaches this week is the inability of Soccer Canberra to stage a representative programme this season.



Soccer Canberra chairman Steve Doszpot: failed to deliver the goods

Only the ANZAC clash against a Victorian Turkish select was played, making a mockery of what was once the best of all state representative programmes.

"Every time we ask what is happening we are told that Soccer Canberra is too busy," our informant said.

"If they are too busy then how can (Soccer Canberra chairman) Steve Doszpot be brought in to help Soccer Australia with Asian fixtures.

"He can't even get the time to do them in his own backyard.

"People here are getting fed up with the local game being shunted to the background while the go in search of plum jobs.

"Something has to happen shortly because too many people are walking away."

And as exclusively reported in a recent issue of SuperSoccer a take over bid for Canberra Cosmos has been mounted.

Despite having their initial $1million bid rejected the Sydney-based consortium have renewed talks with Canberra Cosmos with a view to buying out the shares of Belconnen United and Soccer Canberra.

Coles looks to leave United

MANCHESTER United striker Andy Cole claims he may be forced to quit Old Trafford to boost his chances of playing for England in the 2002 World Cup finals.

Although the striker was included in Sven-Goran Eriksson's squad for this week's friendly against Holland, it seems as if Cole has dropped down the pecking order at United following the arrival of Ruud van Nistelrooy.

Sir Alex Ferguson has revealed that he intends to use Paul Scholes alongside the £19million Dutchman as the Premiership champions prepare to embark upon a fresh assault on the Champions League.

But Cole, who turns 30 in October, claims he is not prepared to be a bit-part player and needs first-team football to secure his place in the international side.

He told English newspaper The Sun: "At my age I cannot afford to be sitting on the bench with a World Cup coming round. At this stage of my career I need to be playing.

"This will be my last chance to be involved in a World Cup.

"I want to help England get there and then play in the finals.

"That is every footballer's dream and I will not get picked if I'm not playing regularly for United.

"If I'm not playing on a regular basis, the England manager has every right to overlook me for someone else who is and who is doing well.

"If it is clear in the first few months that I will be spending a lot of time on the bench at United, then I will have to go and see the manager to see where my future lies.

"It would be tough leaving United - but if I have to move to another top club to get first-team football then that is what I might have to do."

Cole arrived at Old Trafford in a shock £6million switch from Newcastle in January 1995 and has gone on to net over 100 goals for the Red Devils.

He is also United's all-time leading scorer in the European Cup with 18, but despite chalking up his first international goal in 13 attempts against Albania in March, he could manage just half-a-dozen goals at club level.

Nevertheless, Cole insists he still has what it takes to be Ferguson's first-choice striker for every match.

"If you look at my goals record, it stands up to any scrutiny," he said.

"I still have the utmost faith in my own ability and I know I can do a job.

"I believe I can still be the number one striker at Old Trafford, but I need to be playing - and I want to be playing.

"Anyone happy to sit on the bench has no ambition."

"I want to be playing in the real big games against the likes of Bayern Munich and Real Madrid.

"I'm ambitious and I do not want to be on the bench for the big ones because, after all, they are what you come into the game for.

"Looking at this season coming up, I know it is going to be difficult for me.

"Only time will tell what is going to happen."

Rufer agrees to pull on boots

THE Football Kingz have struck an agreement with Kiwi legend Wynton Rufer which will see the 38 year-old striker play the coming season.

There had been fears that Rufer would walk away from the club after being dismissed as player-coach.

But the former Werder Bremen star has agreed terms with Kingz officials over a new playing contract.

He joins former Sydney Olympic midfielder George Goutzioulos as the latest signings to new manager Mick Petersen's squad.

Rufer trained for the first time with the Kingz squad last week.

"Wynton will obviously be on a different training regime from a 19-year-old player but considering what I saw at training yesterday I can't see any reason why he wouldn't be an influence on the competition," said Petersen.

Moore sidelined

A recurrence of the knee injury which kept Socceroo defender Craig Moore on the sidelines for most of last season has ruled him out for the next six weeks.

The Rangers central defender missed the 4-1 Premier League win over Dunfermline, and this latest setback is a concern for Australian manager Frank Farina in the buildup to the World Cup qualifier with the fifth placed South American country in November.

Rehhagel handed three-year deal with Greece

VETERAN Bundesliga coach Otto Rehhagel on Thursday was handed a three-year deal from the Greek football federation (HFF) to coach the Greek national squad, according to a report by the Athens News Agency (ANA).

The HFF initially refused to comment on the report, but the agency said that 63-year-old Rehhagel would replace Vasilis Daniil and the wily veteran coach confirmed he had been offered the post and was happy to accept.

Early Thursday evening, an HFF spokesman confirmed the German was their man.

"It's a tough but interesting challenge," said Rehhagel, who turned Werder Bremen into one of the top sides in Europe a decade ago before a short, unhappy stint at Bayern Munich.

He followed that up by getting Kaiserslautern promoted and then led them straight to the Bundesliga title - the first side to win the championship a year after coming out of the second division.

Rehhagel also won the Bundesliga twice with Bremen and the 1992 Cup Winners Cup.

A Greek federation spokesman said from Athens that the Greek authorities had waited especially until Rehhagel's birthday bash on Thursday before making the formal offer as a birthday treat.

Daniil resigned two months ago after Greece virtually lost all chances of qualifying for the 2002 World Cup following a 2-0 home defeat to England.

ANA said that the HFF board of directors voted unanimously for Rehhagel to take over the post and would take charge for the friendly match against Russia on August 15.

Local press reports said that the German coach would be given a two-year contract worth 360,000 dollars a year.

Rehhagel had been in the running for the Greek job along with Spain's Javier Clemente, England's Terry Venables and Italian pair Nevio Scala and Marco Tardelli.

His task is now to take the Greeks to the 2004 European Championship finals in Portugal and then produce a side which can make an impression on home soil in the 2006 Olympics.

Ardiles takes over as coach at Al-Ittihad of Jeddah

FORMER Argentinean ace Osvaldo Ardiles has been appointed as a coach of Saudi Arabian club Al-Ittihad, a club official announced on Friday.

European no-hopers enjoy moment of fame

A who's who of European football it's not - but as the saying goes, 'from little acorns mighty oaks grow' and the continent's no-hopers can always dream.In reality, none of the 82 teams involved in the UEFA Cup qualifying round on Thursday will expect their European season to grow into anything spectacular - but that isn't stopping them enjoying their brief moment in the spotlight.

Although the competition has seen its significance wither away in recent years, with the Champions League grabbing the bulk of the interest, last year's final was a classic as Liverpool beat Spanish side Alaves 5-4.

This year's final is a distant hope for the likes of all the teams in action on Thursday, but at least that dream is still alive for another fortnight - with the exception of teams who found even Thursday's level too much of a step up.

Such teams included Welsh outfit Cwmbran Town - and they were not taking things lying down even after a 4-0 home reverse to Slovan Bratislava of Slovakia.

Coach Tony Willcox said he would consult the video of the game as he mulled an appeal following a red card for defender Dean Philpott in the opening minutes for an apparent headbutt on Bradislav Objarek.

"There was an incident between the two players about five minutes earlier and I told Dean to keep cool," said Willcox.

"Then he gave away a free-kick and I don't really know what happened after that.

"He is adamant that he did nothing wrong.

"He told me that the lad just fell to the floor.

"We will have a look at the video and see what it shows.

"The last 75 minutes of the match I hated because it was basically a no contest after the sending-off."

Irish side Longford Town were kicking themselves after Bulgaria's Liteks Lovetch snatched a 1-1 draw after Stefan Yurukov levelled a Keith O'Connor goal six minutes from time.

Longford, who included Barbados international Eric Levine in their side, were promoted to the Irish top flight for the first time a year ago and then qualified for Europe by reaching the FAI Cup final, where they lost to double winners Bohemians.

Elsewhere, Kilmarnock's Chris Innes bagged an injury-time winner as the Scots saw off Glenavon in Northern Ireland.

"It was very cruel," said dejected Glenavon boss Colm Malone.

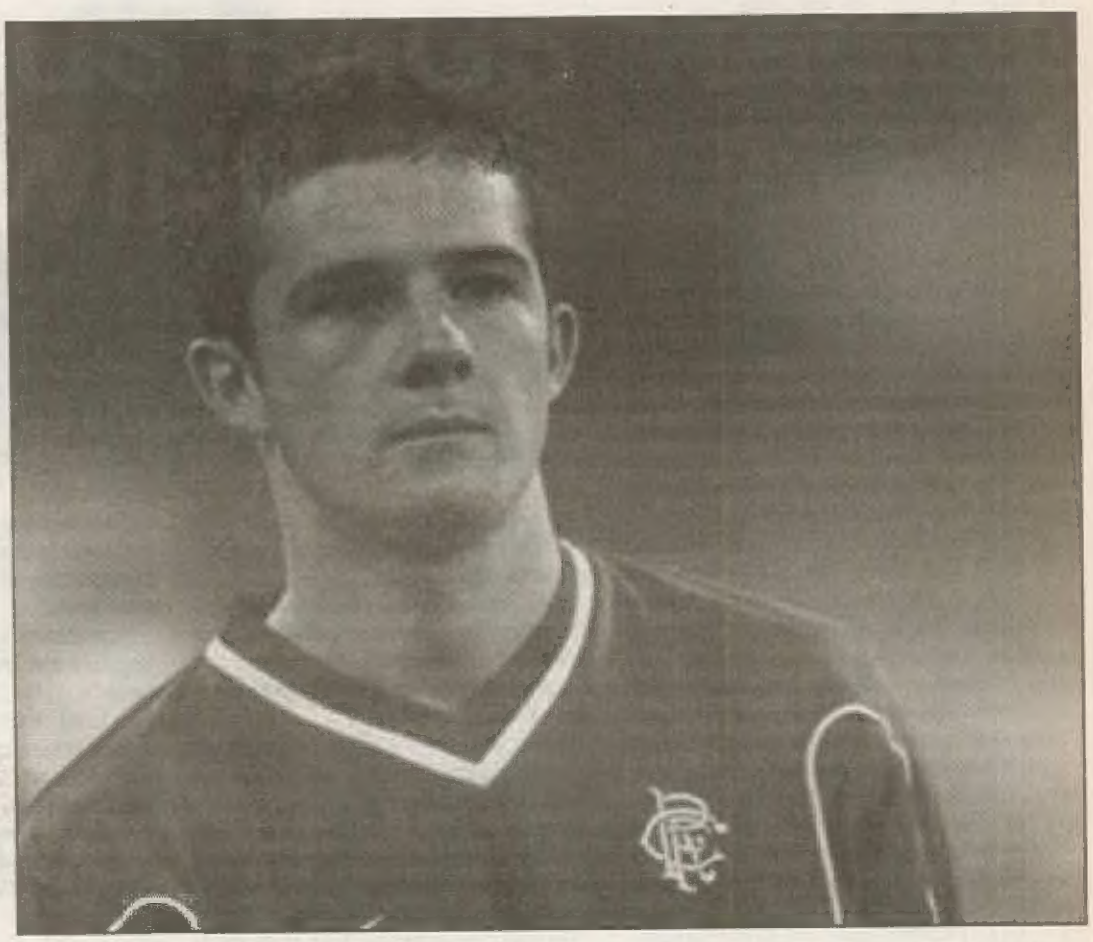
Austria's Rapid Vienna, who reached the 1996 Cup Winners Cup final, crept to a 1-0 lead in San Marino against Cosmos which should prove just enough with the return to come.

Maccabi Tel-Aviv, disqualified from the third qualifying round of the Champions League for fielding a suspended player against Finland's Haka, would otherwise have faced UEFA Cup holders Liverpool on Wednesday.

Instead, having played the ineligible Walid Badir, they had to play Zalgiris Vilnius of Lithuania instead.

But the Israelis consoles themselves by winning 6-0. The 41 winners, after the August 23 second leg, join 39 other qualifiers in the first round proper, along with the 16 losers from the third qualifying round of the Champions League, plus three teams from the Intertoto Cup.

SCOTLAND'S BIG TWO WON'T BE CHERRY PICKED FOR ENGLAND



ENGLISH Premier League chief executive Richard Scudamore has admitted it is unlikely that English clubs would benefit from allowing Celtic and Rangers into the country's domestic game.

Amid much talk of the Glasgow giants seeking to play at a higher level on a regular basis, suggestions were made that they could be incorporated into the Premiership.

But Scudamore's personal opinion is that the Old Firm would not be "cherry picked" from the Scottish League.

He also suggested that they would have to earn their place in the top 20 clubs in England should a re-formation of Britain's football structure ever take place.

With a high proportion of current Premiership clubs sold out for each match in a season, it is hard to see how the two Scottish sides would be attractive to the rest of the Premiership clubs - if ever it came to the vote Celtic and Rangers would need the backing of 14 Premiership chairmen.

"We are so successful anyway that it would be arguable if it even made a marginal difference to the Premier League should Celtic and Rangers join," said Scudamore.

"It's not going to increase gate revenue when there are 18 other clubs with full houses most weeks.

"You have to say it's by far to the advantage of Celtic and Rangers, more than it is to the Premier League - which is why I can't think we will be racing to make it happen.

"I think it's unthinkable that the Premier League would countenance just parachuting two clubs into a competition, I couldn't see us just cherry picking Celtic and Rangers."

Scudamore added that neither of the Glasgow clubs had made formal approaches to join English football's top flight in any case.

He said: "That is not to say if there was ever a fundamental look at the structure of the game, and it was decided to place British clubs into a new pyramid system, that that might change.

"But they would need to earn their way into the Premier League because there are 24 clubs in the First Division trying to get there.

"It's something that we have to be very careful about when there are issues of promotion and relegation.

"We are flattered in many ways because it shows the Premiership is a destination place," Scudamore added.

Brazil will qualify: Pele

PELE has hit back at the critics by insisting that Brazil will still qualify for next year's World Cup finals.

"It is absurd to think that Brazil will not take part in the 2002 World Cup finals," said Pele reflecting on a poor series of results which have left the four-time world champions struggling in the South American qualifiers.

"I am never going to stop believing in my country. To say that they will not get over this crisis and not qualify is not very patriotic," said Pele at a press conference held to announce an agreement allowing the Coca-Cola company to use his image.

In the last month, Brazil have lost to Honduras, Mexico and Ecuador and now face a crucial qualifier against Paraguay on August 15 to stay on track for the World Cup finals in Japan and South Korea next year.

Pele, who played 114 times for Brazil and won three World Cups in 1958, 1962 and 1970, said that Brazilian football has been badly affected by the loss of top players to European clubs, the frenetic chopping and changing of staff on the national team and the tendency for ordinary players to be treated as superstars.

"I have already said in the past that if we had kept the Olympic team together and added experienced players, then we would have a fine team now.

"But what has happened is that we are not winning and that is very sad."

Pele also lent his support to under-fire coach Luiz Scolari.

"How can he create a brilliant team in just one month?"

But the legendary player still believes that Brazil will overcome Paraguay in the match at Porte Alegre.

"We played Paraguay in the qualifiers for the 1970 World Cup at the Maracana and won 1-0," he said.

Brazil are currently in fourth place in the South American qualifying competition. That would be enough to put them in the finals.

Finishing in fifth place, however, would entail a playoff against Australia.

Merrylands F.C. the real winners

by Adam Leto

THIS year's Cottam Cup was an all-Merrylands affair with the Merrylands senior division one team taking on the Merrylands Over 35s division one side.

In what was one of the most gripping finals in recent years, the Merrylands senior side emerged victorious with a nail-biting 4-3 victory in extra-time.

Played in wet conditions on a cold and drizzly night, the game was fought out between two combatants who went punch for punch for 12 and a bit rounds.

Coach of the senior team, James Maiorca, highlights the win as the biggest achievement by his side this season.

"We started off pretty badly, and we've had a fairly ordinary season," Maiorca admits.

"Winning the Cottam Cup is by far the best thing to have happened to us this season."

The Merrylands side has had a season full of disruptions, but put the off-field dramas aside to do exceptionally well, not only to reach the final but to win it.

"At the start of the season we lost eight or nine of our players, so we had to start again from scratch, Maiorca explains.

"We didn't make the finals in our league, but it took time for the boys to gel again, and in the second half of the season the side has done well.

"We just left our run a bit too late."

Despite inconsistency Maiorca, comments on how every Wednesday night when the Cottam Cup games were played his side always came to play.

"I don't know the reason behind it, but every Wednesday night the boys were always switched on," he says.

"We were playing against sides that had beaten us in the league and from the Premier League and we beat them.

"It provided us with an opportunity to prove that we can beat these teams, and were better than what our results had shown.

"In the final we were down 2-0, but we fought back really well and showed plenty of courage.

"People were saying that they played better, but that's football, at the end of the day we were the ones holding up the trophy.

"I suppose it would've been alright had we lost to the Over 35s, because we know some of the guys and have trained with them."

Coach of the Over 35s, Lou Dulisse, agrees with Maiorca's assessment but is still disappointed with the result.

"A lot of people said we were the better team on the day," Dulisse says

"We were leading 2-0 and let them back into it with some silly mistakes.

"We then led 3-2 with five minutes to go and they equalised.

"The game itself was of a very high standard, and there was some good quality goals from both sides.

"But that's football, we're now concentrating on our finals, and the champions of champions, that's our main aim."

The Over 35s Merryland side would have to be one of the most highly-credentialed sides in Australia, containing players such as Zlatko Nastevski and Tony Henderson, but to name a few in what is an all-star line-up.

A majority of the side are aged over 40, but at this age still prove that although they may be a couple of yards slower and a few kilos heavier, certainly haven't lost their touch.

Daniel Cummins: plenty of plenty

This week Super Soccer continues its series on the SOCCER BLUES, looking at midfield star DANIEL CUMMINS. New South Wales re-started its state representative programme last year against Queensland and this season continued it with two games against Victoria and Queensland. A record of two wins and one loss by Brian Brown's team is clear indication of the state of the game in New South Wales. ADAM LETO reports.

DANIEL Cummins has seen plenty and achieved plenty.

And the young midfielder has plenty of ambition and has the skill and passion to achieve it.

Having spent most of his childhood in Tamworth, the country lifestyle has certainly had an influence on his career thus far.

"In the country you play whatever you can," Cummins says.

"On a Friday night you might play basketball, and on Saturday you'd play soccer, and Sundays you'd play cricket."

Cummins first sport was rugby league.

"I started playing rugby league when I was six or seven, and when I moved to the country the following year everyone was playing soccer," Cummins explains.

"That's how I first got started.

"It wasn't until I was selected in the NSW sides from the age of 12 to 15, that I realised I could make it in the game.

"It was while I was playing in the rep sides that my ambition started to grow."

The rise of Cummins as a player has been remarkable considering the lack of exposure to the best playing talent in NSW.

Whilst he wasn't able to match it with the best players week in week out, his development as a player never wavered.

"When I was in the NSW academy they always said on my report that I had to catch up to the city pace," Cummins says.

"That was the one thing they always used to stress to me."

Cummins moved back to Sydney at the age of 16 on a sports scholarship with a GPS school.

Although the school wasn't noted for it's soccer programme, it didn't take long before Cummins was playing in Super League.

"I played my first season in Super League at the age of 18 with St.George," Cummins comments.

"I really learnt a lot that year and in the side was John Buonavoglia and Steve Karavatakis.

"After that I spent some time at Macarthur under Casey De Bruin and he really taught me a lot."

From there, Cummins made the jump to the national league with the Brisbane Strikers before returning back to Sydney and playing out the season with the Parramatta Eagles.

"I spent pre-season with the Strikers and played in every pre-season game, but in the end they had too many players and I didn't get signed," he says.

"It was a great experience though and when I came back to Parramatta, it took a while to find my feet but it was fun."

Cummins is also confident of getting back to the NSL one day.

"I'll play in the NSL one day for sure, it's just a matter of finding the right club," he says.

"I'm really competitive and always want to play at the highest level possible."

Cummins also has an eye on continuing his career overseas one day too.

"I went to Italy and Sweden as the sports trainer for the Under 17s Parramatta side," Cummins explains.

"It's a different world over there and I would love to get over there one day.

"To get to that stage and play at that level would be unbelievable."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE READERS OF SUPER SOCCER from Brian Dene, First Grade Coach MSC Liverpool responding to Adam Leto's "Football Weekly Forum" on page 17, Tuesday 31st of July, 2001.

As First Grade Coach of MSC Liverpool, I was very encouraged to read the comments of my coaching peers published in the column "Football Weekly Forum".

When I accepted the role as Head Coach at MSC Liverpool, the Board made it extremely clear to me that they expected the very best from the players that we could afford.

Not only was our budget limited, but I had to build a team, create a club culture and identify young and talented players for future development in a short period of time.

I believe MSC Liverpool has done relatively well.

I know that most readers of Super Soccer, if they cast their minds back, will remember when their club didn't have a competitive season - that's soccer.

Every club has to start somewhere.

I'm sure that even the great Sir Alex Ferguson could tell us a story or two about the coaching challenges he's faced.

MSC Liverpool is a club rich with young and outstanding junior players who need to have the opportunity to stay within their district and play for a Super League Club or higher.

The Soccer Club knew that the 2001 season would be difficult, but wanted to start building the path for future local players.

And as Head Coach I've ensured that our Youth Development Programme has been instigated with young outstanding players, such as: Darren Opsal; Tom Tregear; Matt Harrison; Tim Spain; Craig Achurch; Trent Dunlop and Neil Littlewood having been given a go in first grade.

Indeed, this season has been the most incredible learning curve for all players at MSC Liverpool.

But I've been inspired by the first grade players' continual enthusiasm despite the heartbreak and disappointment of being beaten each week.

Sometimes it's easy to have a "short memory".

But as you know, in the cycle of life we all must learn to crawl before we walk.

This season has been the best teacher for all of us, players and coaching staff.

Whatever the 2002 season holds for MSC Liverpool, I know that the Club stands behind and supports all its players, both young and experienced.

And I know the players will be even more committed to playing entertaining and strategic football, ready to take on the older and more established clubs in the competition.

New South Wales leading the way

By Adam Leto

THIS season has seen state league football in New South Wales reach greater heights than ever before.

The Premier League was a great success and saw teams such as Bonnyrigg and Blacktown continue their high standards.

The introduction of Belconnen and Penrith were important in establishing a foundation in these areas where the game has huge potential.

There was no let up in the standard when the winter Super League competition kicked-off.

With the finals about to begin, President of the NSW Soccer Federation Peter Gray, explains his thoughts on what has been a year-round season for the first time.

"The Super League is one of the best competitions in Australia," he says.

"The standard is excellent, and is a big improvement on the first division that was running last season.

"It has been a success and everything has improved dramatically, from the crowds, the players, and the standard of play.

"I'm delighted with how everything has gone, I'm tickled pink."

A summer and winter competition was greeted with some trepidation at first, but from what we have seen this year there is no doubt that the public have warmed to the idea of having a year-round football season.

Gray also points out that both competitions in summer and winter are progressing well.

"The competitions are on par with each other, with the Premier League being the best competition in the summer and the Super League in the winter," Gray explains.

"The Premier League was of an excellent standard and the Super League has had the players that were playing in the Premier League playing in that competition as well as some NSL players."

Peter Gray: predicting an even brighter future in the Premier State

Gray also concedes that part of the success behind the increase in state league competition is the evolvement of players wanting to become full-time in Australia.

"The reason why the standard has increased is due largely to players now wanting to play full-time," he explains.

"The Premier League will only get stronger, and we've already seen in the Super League the increase in NSL players and increase in standard of referees.

"Although this has detracted from some clubs not developing a higher youth policy, they realise that those players aren't going to be around forever.

"They need to develop their younger players if they are to grow.

"But overall the standard has been great and I take my hat off to all the clubs and players involved this season."

Gray is hoping to build on this year's success and has further ambitions for football in this state.

"We are the biggest state, and have 45 percent of the players in this country," he says.

"We have two of the best state league competitions, whilst other states struggle to have one.

"We're the biggest state so it's only natural that we lead the way."

Amongst Gray's plans is a NSW side to be in a competition against competing Asian teams.

"I've said all along that we need to have a team competing against the top teams of Asia," Gray says.

"We choose a NSW team, out of the best players in both winter and summer competitions and they would play for a cup against teams in the Asian leagues."

If this season is anything to go by, and with plans to further the game in NSW in the pipeline, there is no doubt that the future of the game in this state is looking secure.

Professionalism in this country may seem distant, but with continued development, it might seem closer than first thought.

BANKSTOWN CITY LIONS WIN 2001 PREMIERSHIP

Bankstown City secured the NSW Super League Premiership with a dour 1-1 draw against MSC Liverpool at Hammondville Oval last Sunday.

Needing only to draw to take the crown, Bankstown had to fight all the way against a spirited Liverpool outfit.

Despite dominating most of the opening 45 minutes, it took the visitors until one minute from half time to break the deadlock, when Robert Issa scored.

The Lions threatened to run away with the match in the second term, but it was MSC who posted the next goal, with Josh Wells heading a well-weighted Scott Watkins free kick for the equaliser midway through the second term.

The draw enough to ensure top spot, much to the delight of the large contingent of Bankstown supporters.

The Fraser Park Jets and the Fairfield Bulls ended the regular Super League season as equals as they contested a two all draw on Sunday afternoon.

After 41 minutes Stuart Van Bentum opened the scoring after rifling in a volley from the edge of the area.

An Ivo De Jesus 40-yard screamer that caught Frank Mikuletic off his line two minutes later matched his strike.

After 48 minutes Damian Rosenthal toed in at the near post as he met a De Jesus free kick played in from the left.

It was left to the Golden Boot-elect Marc Hoenselaars to once again bring the teams even as he shot in off a post on 71 minutes to leave the final 20 minutes of the match up for grabs that neither team could exploit and take as their own

Hajduk finished their season on a winning note defeating Macarthur Rams 4-2 in an entertaining fixture at Hajduk Stadium.

INTRODUCING A NEW WEEKLY COVERAGE ON

SOCCER SKILLS

GOALKEEPER TECH TIPS
Ball Handling

Jimmy Fraser being put through his paces by Australia's '74 World Cup coach Rale Rasic. In this series of excellent practical caoching tips Fraser gives advice to young keepers.

by Jimmy Fraser
former World Cup goalkeeper

IN goalkeeper terminology ball handling not only means catching the ball cleanly it also covers the palming off and deflecting of shots in a controlled manner. (We will treat punching as a separate technique).

Ideally the ball should either be caught and held prior to distribution or played dead behind the line eliminating a second shot on goal.

Keepers often make brilliant reflex saves where the ball is pushed back into play and they are beaten by a second shot while they are still on the ground or out of position.

Good ball handling can eliminate these second chances, prevent goals and save vital competition points.

The keeper must learn to concentrate and make an early decision on repositioning in the best place to receive the ball and whether to catch, deflect, punch or clear the ball with their feet

When analyzing a keeper who fumbles the ball continuously their footwork must be taken into consideration as a keeper who is slow to move for the ball and is stretching or not facing the ball squarely is mare likely to snatch at and drop the ball.

Good ball handling technique starts with the correct stance, which we talked about in previous tech tips.

Good stance means the keeper can react to the flight of the ball in the shortest time as they are already set to move quickly in any direction to intercept the ball.

When the ball is in flight the keeper is under pressure to make several decisions quickly to complete the handling technique successfully.

Poor concentration and decision-making are often to blame for poor handling and these are both techniques that should be practiced at every session.

A keeper who ball watches and is not analyzing the position of his teammates correcting his position and stance will react slowly to a shot or through ball.

Keepers who are good ball handlers always have good concentration skills and are capable of collating all the relevant information available (i.e. weather, team positions, vision attacking teams options etc) and complete the chosen technique.

It is important that when catching the ball the keeper watches the ball into the hands and the ball is secure before they make a decision on distribution. Keepers arc often thinking on where they are going to distribute to and drop the ball simply because they are under pressure to distribute quickly.

At all times our first responsibility is to stop the ball passing over the line.

A keeper who can quickly and accurately distribute the ball is an asset to any team but our first priority is to save the ball to many coaches put pressure on the keeper to clear the ball quickly and a nervous or inexperienced keeper may be worried about the clearance rather than completing the handling technique required.

While it is fair for the coach to expect quick distribution it is the keepers decision on the park on how to react to each situation.

The completion of each technique in training initially while not under pressure will allow the training routines to be built up to game related pressure situations where the keeper is capable of completing a series of techniques at speed.

The actual handling technique of catching the ball requires the keeper to cushion the ball as the ball hits the hands so as the ball does not spill out.

If the keeper has hard hands the fingers cannot wrap around the ball to complete the catch.

Keepers often tense their hands to take the speed of the ball rather than locking the wrist and keeping the fingers supple so the ball can be cushioned.

Cushioning the ball requires good finger strength and this can be achieved by squashing a tennis or squash ball repeatedly building up both finger strength and confidence in handling.

Thumbs play a vital part in catching the ball and must always be behind the ball so the ball cannot slip through.

The hand should be held with the fingers and thumbs held in a W position and hands position should be checked regularly in training as the ball is caught.

More next week on handling drills.

AUSTRALIA

THE WEST HAM UNIT

By Adam Leto

ASK most young kids playing football these days what theire goals are and most would come back with the answer "I want to play overseas."

Not surprising, considering the amount of money and fame available in Europe, not to mention the opportunity to play against some of the best players in the world.

Helping young players reach this goal is the Blacktown City Demons, who are continually churning out high-quality youth players.

Director of youth coaching Ken Schembri, whose association with the club spans over four decades is helping to provide an opportunity and footballing environment like no other in Australia.

"We started the our youth academy and relationship with West Ham back in 1998," explains Schembri.

"Our goal has always been to concentrate on youth development and bringing kids up from a young age.

"We then help them develop and progress, hopefully from a state league level to a national level or to playing overseas.

"We knew we were never going to be part of the NSL's plans so we have just focused on developing the best players we can and give them an environment where they can reach their best."

It is no coincidence that since the programme with West Ham has been in action, the Demons youth teams have been the best performed in NSW.

They have won the past three cor bined Super Youth and Cad Championships.

An exceptional feat considerir they're up against NSL youth pr grames such as Northern Spi Sydney Olympic and Marconi.

"We're very proud of our succe and to win three club championships in a row is a great achievement," Schembri says.

"It's something that I can't see too many clubs matching in the future.

"We're very proud of all the boys and a large percentage of them will go on to represent the club at a state league level, as well as go on to the NSL.

"Our relationship with West Ham is very strong and they're very happy with the way things are going at this stage.

"They send out one of their talent scouts or staff members every year, to make sure everything is running well and they're fine with the way things are being run.

"The most important thing we offer is the environment.

"If any kid wants to make it in the game they know we have the right systems in place."

Coach of the Under 15s side Phil McMullen, agrees with Schembri's assessment on the level of professionalism at the club.

"The club is very professional, everything from coaching, administration, players, schedules, and training. We cover all bases," McMullen says.

"All the coaches from all the sides work very closely, and we pretty much know all the players in all grades.

"My role is to start to prepare them mentally both on and off the field.

"I have to start to get them ready for professionalism, which after they finish this season that's what will be expected from them."

Coach of the 17s Cliff Pointer has also seen the club develop.

"The club is far more professional, the coaching and playing standards have improved dramatically and it is a good structure for young boys to come into," Pointer says.

"It's an excellent programme and gives kids the opportunity to develop and get to the stage where they can play at the highest level here or overseas.

Walking to fitness: an additional tool for the serious soccer player

WALK, don't run, to your local fitness store and try on a pair of walking shoes.

For cardiovascular fitness, there isn't an activity that's more sensitive to the wear and tear of your body than a stroll through the park.

Aside from being a tremendous tension releaser and a great metabolism booster, walking is a great exercise to strengthen your legs, abdomen, and heart.

But before we get into the crucial elements to this growing craze, first kick off the old shoes and slide in with the new.

Walking shoes, obviously, are the walker's tools, much the way a baseball player relies on his bat and a golfer does his putter.

So you can never be too choosy about what you slip your feet into.

Most importantly, perhaps, is that the shoes fit.

If you seem like you may be in between shoe sizes, always choose the larger size.

It is imperative that you can wiggle your toes inside your walking shoes and that you can squeeze a finger between your heel and the inside of your shoes.

After securing a proper fit, it's time to hit the streets.

Stretching, of course, is the first order of business, so take a few minutes before each walk to stretch your legs properly, increasing flexibility while decreasing the risk of injury.

You want to emphasize the stretch around your hamstrings, quadriceps, and calf muscles, allowing these muscles to warm up before you begin your walk.

Walking may seem like merely an integral part of your life.

You walk every day, whether it's to your car, to the mailbox, or through a shopping mall.

But what many walking hopefuls don't understand is that there is an actual technique involved.

Walking is a heel-to-toe type exercise in a sense that you should always land with your weight on your heel before rolling onto the balls of the feet.

Then, push off with the ball of your foot before landing on the heel of your opposite foot.

Throughout the stride, your arms should be loose and swinging with each step.

Your back is straight during this and your knees are bent a tad.

As you walk, your eyes should be focused straight ahead, with your chin up, your shoulders straight, and your chest pushed forward.

Your stride should be at a comfortable distance, not too short and not too long.

The right stride will conserve your energy and allow you to maintain proper balance, form, and speed.

The more moderate pace for a walk is somewhere around 3 mph while a more advanced competitive walker will chug along at a 5 mph pace.

Many walkers prefer to perform with weights, whether held in the hands or strapped to the legs.

Before attempting this, you may want to work up such an exercise.

However, walking with weights can build up strength and endurance.

Usually after the first two weeks of taking on this method of fitness, the walker will feel an increase in stamina and perhaps a loss of fat.

Roads with sidewalks are ideal for the walker.

That way, the walker doesn't face the danger of being struck by motor vehicles.

Under circumstances where sidewalks are not present, be sure to walk on the left side of the road so you are facing the oncoming traffic.

Athletic tracks usually provide a smooth surface for the walker, but when doing so, be considerate to others.

Be sure to walk on the outside lanes.

The inside lanes are generally reserved for joggers and sprinters so the slower your pace, the further outside you should be.

It doesn't matter who you are, or how fit you are - if you don't stay in peak condition then you won't reach the top in football. SuperSoccer's regular FIT FOR FOOTBALL listees are all recognised in their field to help you the player achieve your goals.

Futsal gears up for busy peak summer

TRADITIONALLY the summer months are the busy period for Indoor Soccer.

Although the game is played all year round the addition of many state league players and semi pros makes match nights a bit more interesting.

Futsal Star #1 Adam Confoy is an example - a regular goalkeeper with MSC Liverpool in the tough semi pro NSW Super League competition, as well as Australia's goalkeeper at the last Futsal World Cup.

This small sided soccer game is played with five players on each team, generally in an indoor court where the atmosphere can be electric.

The current world record crowd is some 25,000 plus which is a huge crowd by any indoor sporting standards.

The game is played on a small court the same as European Handball (40m x 20m maximum).

Currently 100 plus countries throughout the world including Australia play Futsal although the game is played in other forms in many other nations.

It is estimated that by the year 2004 all 197 member countries of FIFA will participate.

Australia has traditionally had a higher ranking in Futsal than it does in the outdoor game and has been a finalist at three of the last four FIFA World Cups.

FIFA is the governing body for world football as well as Futsal, after the old Fifusa regime was superceded in the late 1980s.

Fifusa is till popular in some countries although the tendency is switching towards FIFA's administration of the game.

In Australia the Australian Futsal Federation had been previously recognised by FIFA, Soccer Australia and the Australian Sports Commission as this country's administering body.

However, this is currently being fought between various different factions.

To date, FIFA has failed to satisfactorily pass any edict which elicits total confidence amongst Australia's hundred thousand or so indoor players.

Australia, likes the outdoor version, plays in an Oceania Confederation which has the following member nations: American Samoa, Australia, Cook Islands, Fiji, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Tahiti, Tonga, Vanuatu and Samoa.

For the last decade Australia has held massive dominance over the other Oceania countries.

THE current Mexican stand-off between the warring indoor bodies continues to frustrate SuperSoccer's editorial staff. In the lack of any form of official co-operation we shall continue to publish our independent Futsal reports.

Colosimo on the bench as Keegan off to winning start

FORMER England boss Kevin Keegan got his managerial career with Manchester City off to the perfect start with a 3-0 win over English First Division opponents Watford at Maine Road on Saturday.

In front of arguably the most devoted fans in the country, Keegan watched his newly-signed Israeli international midfielder Eyal Berkovic score the opener with striker Shaun Goater and veteran England fullback Stuart Pearce grabbing a goal apiece.

At 39, Pearce is definitely in the twilight of his career but a trademark thunderbolt from 20 yards proved that the former Nottingham Forest and West Ham star was still a force to be reckoned with.

It was all so different from Keegan's last game in charge of England - booed off the pitch following a 1-0 World Cup qualifying defeat by Germany in the last match before the builders moved in at Wembley.

But there was no place for City's new-boy Aussie Colosimo.

The former Carlton and South Melbourne player was on the bench and didn't get on.

Meanwhile, Watford's new manager, former Chelsea boss Gianluca Vialli, was left to reflect on just how tough the First Division can be.

The former Italy striker is aiming for promotion to the Premiership within two years.

But as Vialli will have realised, escaping into the top flight will be no easy task - even for a team backed by the millions of pop star Elton John.

Deschamps in the doldrums as Monaco lose again

DIDIER Deschamps thought success as a coach would come as easily to him as playing, the World Cup and Euro 2000 winner was soundly disabused of that view Saturday when his moneybags Monaco side crashed to a 3-0 defeat at French league tailenders Rennes.

In a match between two sides who have both made a disastrous start, a hattrick from Olivier Monterrubio made all the difference as the man who left champions Nantes for a regular first team place scored twice in the opening 25 minutes - once from the spot - and again near the end.

Monaco have yet to score a goal after opening their season with a 1-0 home reverse to promoted Sochaux - a loss they followed with a goalless home stalemate against another promoted side in Montpellier.

Besides an early effort off-target from Argentine midfielder Marcelo Gallardo, and a couple of close calls for the Rennes defence as the visitors' Burundian forward Shabani Nonda twice tied them in knots before missing the target, Deschamps' men offered little up front.

Rennes had lost their opening matches 5-0 at home to Auxerre and then lost 4-3 at Sochaux.

But they answered the call for more passion from coach Christian Gourcuff, and none more so than Monterrubio.

The striker netted the opener on 17 minutes with a freekick which gave Monaco's Italian keeper Flavio Roma no chance.

Cyril Domoraud then handled in the penalty area and Monterrubio calmly converted the ensuing penalty kick.

Jocelyn Gourvennec then ended a fine run with a through pass to Monterrubio to complete Monaco's misery on 81 minutes.

In later games, Paris St Germain were unveiling Brazilian superstar in the making Ronaldinho for his full debut at the Parc de Princes against surprise pace-setters Sochaux.

PSG's bitter rivals Marseille were welcoming 1998 league champions Lens to the Stade Velodrome.Elsewhere, third-placed Auxerre travel to Britanny to face league newcomers Lorient on Sunday.Last year's revelation Lille, who shocked Italian giants Parma 2-0 in the first leg of their Champions League third round preliminary encounter on Wednesday, are on the road again with an appealing clash against unbeaten Bordeaux.

Larsson bags two as rampant Celtic continue

SCOTTISH champions Celtic have made it three wins out of three with Swedish striker Henrik Larsson striking twice to give them a 2-0 Premier League victory over Hearts.

Larsson, scorer of 53 goals for Celtic last season, took his tally to three in three games with efforts after 45 and 64 minutes to clinch the points at Parkhead.

Celtic top the table with nine points, two clear of rival Rangers who scored an emphatic 4-1 victory at previously unbeaten Dunfermline.

Striker John Hartson made his home debut for Martin O'Neill's side but it was Larsson who fired Celtic ahead from a free kick on the stroke of halftime in front of 58,423.

The Swede then spun and shot home Celtic's second 19 minutes into the second-half and Celtic never looked like relinquishing their lead.

Rangers went ahead at Dunfermline after 12 minutes when former Hibernian livewire Russell Latapy struck home a free kick from the edge of the penalty area.

Dick Advocaat's side doubled their lead five minutes later through Tore Andre Flo's low shot.

Bert Konterman made it three soon after halftime before Rangers goalkeeper Stefan Klos punched the ball into his own net to make it 3-1.

Konterman drove in his second and Rangers fourth eight minutes from time with a free kick after Dunfermline's Justin Skinner was sent off for deliberate handball.

Juan Sara's 24th-minute effort gave Dundee a 1-0 victory in a bad-tempered match at home to promoted Livingston, who suffered their first defeat of the season.

Dundee moved up to third, level on seven points with Rangers.

Hibernian recorded their first win by beating Aberdeen 2-0 with goals by Franck Sauzee and Tom McManus.

St Johnstone, who like Aberdeen are without a point so far this term, were beaten 1-0 at home by Dundee United, Danny Griffin heading the winner.

NSWASF STATE CUP FINAL

SEASIDE HEART BREAKERS AS MAGNUS BAGS LATE WINNER

THE Seasiders from Dee Why, have prevailed over Liverpool Olympic 2-1 in the final of the State Cup, played in Auburn.

In glorious conditions, the Seasiders, despite looking the better side for the match, didn't score their two goals until the final five minutes of play.

This was a reflection of the level of commitment in defence from Olympic, who were within minutes of taking out the Cup.

It was a gritty first half, with the Seasiders using the width of the field well and their midfield were running well off their big strikers Rojahn and Magnus.

Rojahn did well on a few occasions to whip in some good balls to the near post but were dealt with strongly by the Olympic defence.

it was against the run of play when Olympic struck, due to a superb strike from Curry.

Receiving the ball out wide she passed her defender and continued down the left corridor before hammering a left-footed shot from 30 yards out that sailed into the top corner.

Olympic would've been more than happy going into the break 1-0 up, whilst the Seasiders needed to capitalise on their half-chances.

The first-half trend carried into the second, with the Seasiders again applying most of the pressure.

Despite a mountain of possession and territory the Seasiders first real opportunity came after a through ball was latched on to by Firth who just pushed her shot wide of the approaching keeper.

Olympic were looking dangerous on the counter-attack and nearly doubled their lead when a through ball by Curry gave Hewes a one-on-one with the keeper which she fired directly at Mulligan in goals.

With only 20 minutes remaining the Seasiders continued to push forward looking for the equaliser.

Broughton made Hoularac work for the first time in goals after a stunning shot was brilliantly tipped over by Hoularac at full stretch.

Agamemnonos and Ruks were performing strongly at the back for Olympic, but even their efforts were not enough to stop Rojahn from scoring with five minutes remaining.

From a throw in, the forward turned and unleashed a half-volley which rocketed into the top-corner.

Buoyed the goal, the Seasiders continued their push forward and were finally rewarded with a goal in the first minute of injury time.

Magnus was rewarded for her hard-running all game, when she ran onto a loose ball, following good lead-up from Firth and Rojahn.

The bubbling ball was struck first time by Magnus, again into the top corner, which gave the Seasiders a dramatic State Cup victory.

YOUTH LEAGUE with Laki Konistis

FIRST STAGE COMPLETED

LAST weekend saw the first stage of the NSW Super Youth and Super Cadet League finals series being played and completed at the Valentine Sports Complex at Glenwood. Two clubs, namely the overall club champions Blacktown City and the runners-up Northern Spirit are represented in every single division in 2001

Here's how all the competing teams went on the day and, more importantly who has survived.

UNDER 11s:

The first games played were the Cadet League qualifying semi finals in which there were no second chances for the losers. Manly Warringah went head-to-head with the Marconi Stallions and the Northern Spirit had to contend with St. George

Manly accounted for Marconi 2-0 and the Norhern Spirit did it much togher as they were pushed to the wire by an unlucky St.George who in the end lost on penalties (4-2), after the scores remained deadlocked 2-2 after extra-time, thus setting up another enthralling semis clash between Manly and the Northern Spirit this coming week. The Major semi final, to also be played this coming week, will see the giantkilling Premiers and the undefeated Blacktown City Demons taking on the Wollongong City Wolves.

UNDER 12s

The other Cadet League semis for the day saw Marconi taking on the Central Coast and Blacktown City up against the Sutherland Sharks in sudden death football

Blacktown City really struggled and were rather fortunate but relieved to see the end of the Sharks winning 3-2 in another penalty shootout after the scores again were locked 2-2 after extra-time

The Stallions themselves were also counting their blessings after seeing the end of the Coasties in 2001 winning by 1-0

Marconi will now meet Blacktown City in this week's elimination semi which looks like being anyone's

This coming week's Major semi final will be between the Premiers Northern Spirit and Sydney Olympic who actually finished in second place after having to play-off with the Marconi Stallions and getting the better of them in yet another penalty shootout (4-2) earlier in the week

What is it with Cadets and penalty shootouts?

UNDER 13s

Sydney Olympic, after being unable to put away St. George in the final round found themselves now being involved in a qualifying semi final against Manly Warringah with the loser eliminated

The youngsters made amends here however with a convincing 4-0 drubbing of Manly- recording the biggest winning margin all day

The other qualifying semi final against two neighbouring clubs, the Leichhardt Tigers and Canterbury Marrickville Olympic, saw the Bernes live to fight another day courtesy of a hard fought 2-0 victory to put paid to the Tigers' season.

The Bernes have also now set up an intriguing "Greek Derby" clash against Olympic

The other two clubs who should feature prominently in this year's semis are the Premiers Northern Spirit and Blacktown City- who finished on equal points to the Premiers.

Both clubs will be involved in this coming week's Major semi final at Glenwood.

UNDER 14s.

Premiers Northern Spirit appreciated the week off to prepare for their Major semi final clash with Sydney Olympic this weekend, with the other four clubs again having to fight for their survival

Marconi had to contend with a spirited Bankstown City and Blacktown City were prepared for a torrid time against the Wollongong City Wolves in both qualifying semi finals played in this division.

In the end the Stallions did it easily winning 3-0 and will now have to meet Blacktown City after they too got the better of Wollongong by 3-1 in another interesting sudden death semi final on Saturday.

UNDER 15s:

Blacktown City, still smarting after their shock loss to the Central Coast in the final round of competition, a loss which presented the Premiership to Marconi, are very much looking forward to their first finals appearance against the Stallions this weekend in the Major semi final.

The other four finalists for 2001, Northern Spirit vs Bonnyngg and Sydney United vs Sydney Olympic had to first survive a qualifying semi final.

And just as they struggled during the competition proper against the White Eagles, Northern Spirit again only just got past Bonnyngg here by 1-0.

The Spirit will now meet Sydney United who put paid to sydney Olympic's season after winning 2-1

UNDER 17s:

The Parramatta Eagles had only lost one game all season and would have been quietly confident going into their all-important qualifying semi final against Marconi.

And the Eagles were impressive in beating the Stallions by 2-0 to set up yet another interesting semi final clash against Blacktown City this weekend after the Demons escaped against Sydney United in a high-scoring semi won by them 4-3.

The other two clubs who will be involved in this week's Major semi final, namely the Premiers Northern Spirit and of course Sydney Olympic also appreciated to additional week off to prepare for their opening finals appearance.

THIS WEEKEND:

And so we look forward to the next stage where all the winners from this weekend's first stage of semi finals played at Glenwood will now be pitted against each other in yet another tough qualifying semi final on Saturday, in which the loser will again be eliminated. But we also get the opportunity this weekend to see the respective Premiers strut their stuff as they attempt to achieve the elusive "double" in 2001. Can any of them do it?? Time will tell

Ten man Hurstville do just enough for late finals spot

by Peter Smith

Hurstville ZSC claimed a last gasp berth in the finals with a 3-2 victory over Hills United in a winner-takes-all contest at Garside Park last Sunday.

Having been in second spot for much of the season and as late as Round 20, it would have been astonishing had Hurstville, who have been regular finalists for several seasons, missed out this time.

However four losses in the last five games saw them slip to fourth on the ladder and needing a win or a draw from this game to guarantee their progress.

Similarly, Hills United have only been able to claim victories from two of the last nine starts and needed maximum points from this game in what was a replay of last season's Grand Final.

The erratic form of the two teams was once again played out in this game in what was the proverbial game of two halves.

Hurstville ZSC stormed to a seemingly unbeatable 3-0 half-time lead before Hills got back in the game after the interval, slowly pegging back their opponents before time eventually ran out.

Tony Alilovic got the visitors off to a dream start just seven minutes into the contest when he dribbled around two defenders on the edge of the box before finishing coolly.

Dynamic striker Tony Mihaljevic doubled his team's advantage late in the half when, after being fed by fellow front-runner Steve Zoric, he showed great composure to lift his strike over the Hills keeper Ricky Oppedisiano.

Oppedisiano would have been disappointed with the third Hurstville goal.

The Hills keeper fumbling a corner under pressure in a packed six yard box and leaving Zoric with an easy task to score.

It was a shame for Oppedisiano, who otherwise had a fine game making numerous key saves including some genuine fingertip efforts that kept seemingly goal-bound shots out.

At half-time Hills had a mountain to climb although their prospects were looking far brighter just ten minutes into the half as they had pulled a goal back while Hurstville had been reduced to ten men.

Firstly Alilovic was given a straight red card by referee Craig Pearce for foul language then Darren McKee scored a stunning long-range goal.

Daniel Mittiga made ground down the left before pulling a cross-field ball back to McKee who unleashed an unstoppable first time shot from outside the box.

Both teams created a number of chances to score in the second half and Hurstville thought they had a clinching goal through Mihaljevic.

Mihaljevic, once again heavily involved in a typical Hurstville counter-attack, went around the keeper before dragging the ball back from the by-line and finishing from an impossible angle.

However the goal was disallowed on the advice of the linesman who had ruled the ball had gone out of play.

Hills finally got the second that they had been toiling for throughout the half when their top-scorer Mittiga took advantage of a fumble by the Hurstville keeper and swept home from close range.

However it was to be too little too late for Hills and it was Hurstville who were left celebrating yet another appearance in the play-offs.

Hurstville's coach John Gagro was pleased that his team got back on track with a win and saw signs that some of the problems that have blighted his team for the last few weeks are over.

"We have not been working as a unit, we have been losing our shape too easily and have been too ill disciplined going forward," he said.

"We have been turning in some Jeckyl and Hyde performances though today I saw signs that we have turned the corner although the second half was not so good.

"We also are expecting to have 2 or 3 players back next week so I'm optimistic of making an impression in the semis."

Defeated coach Ken Johnstone was philosophical about his team's performance although obviously disappointed with the end result and failure to make the semis.

"We played well in the second half but we let ourselves down a little by letting Hurstville get to a 3-0 lead," he said.

"Injuries hurt us again today, with the two enforced substitutions in the first half.

"With having to play up to 7-8 players from the Under 21's throughout the second half of the season, it's been a good learning curve at least and we can build on this foundation next year".

Tritsaris provides Petersham's only highlight

by Greg Stock

IT HAS been a long and frustrating year for the Concord club. With just a handful of wins and speculation mounting about their immediate playing future, season 2001 holds little highlights.

But on Saturday night they finished their season with a bang comprehensively defeating very disappointing Petersham side 5-1.

With the Division Two finals a long distant memory, both sides were playing for little but pride.

Petersham coach Martin Abi-Arrage reshuffled his starting line-up in a bid to blood a number of youngsters with a view for next season and pulled one surprise just prior to kickoff.

Swapping his goalkeeping shirt for the less traditional number eight jumper, Elias Tritsaris started the match in the unfamiliar role as centre forward, allowing his understudy Theo Theodoulou a start between the sticks.

The move paid dividends early with Tritsaris getting his side off to early lead when he struck in the tenth minute.

Dancing his way through some poor defence Tritsaris fired his shot from just outside the penalty box, proving he has a flair for a lot more than just goalkeeping.

But sadly for Petersham, this would be the climax of their match, with their game going all downhill from there. With veteran stopper Vic Masi calling the shots from the back, Concord were quickly able to cancel out the first goal and get back on level terms.

Striker Nick Hassapis decieved Petersham goalkeeper Theodoulou when he successfully chipped the 'keeper from just outside the penalty area, and the home side was back in business.

By the 40th minute it was all Concord.

Ricky Pettaccia beat the offside trap and raced in to beat Theodoulou at his near post to make the score 2-1 at the break.

While the first half was competitive, little could be said for the second with Concord running rampant.

Petersham barely got out of first gear with the home side scoring three goals in their best half of football all season.

Striker Nick Hassapis nailed his second goal when he rose high at the back post to nod on a freekick, while Robert Gatto was on hand to put away a brilliant through ball from midfielder Mathew Holden.

Defender Frank Peronace also got into the act converting a late penalty after Haasapis was bought down in the box, to aptly finish Concord's season on a high.

Happy Hajduk punish Rams

by Greg Stock

Hajduk Wanderers indifferent 2001 season had a happy ending on Sunday when they defeated Macarthur Rams 4-2 at home.

The win will do no harm to coach Phil Pavela's chances of reappointment after he masterminded a late surge for his side that seemingly struggled to concentrate for the full ninety minutes.

Twice in as many minutes Hajduk allowed the lead to be pulled back, after losing concentration for key periods in the game.

From his customary position standing next to the players' dugout, Pavela barked instruction to his troops all afternoon, coaxing and urging them onto greater efforts.

"We did it tough at times," he conceeded after the final whistle.

"We played some good football but after we scored we immediately dropped off the intensity and that has been the story of our year."

Striker Mauro Van Cuylenberg got Hajduk going early when he netted in the 13th minute after he was put into space by a well weighted Nahual Arrarte through ball.

But for the remainder of the first half, both sides seemed content to fight out the midfield and attempts at scoring were limited to a few long distance efforts.

The second half was largely the same until the 72nd minute when Rams substitute striker Leigh Gunn got his side back on level terms when he rose high at the backpost to knock down a Kory Babington corner.

But four minutes later Hajduk were again back in front.

Former Sydney United midfielder Nahual Arrarte stepped up to freekick just outside the penalty box and was able to slot his shot over the wall and just under the bar, to nestle neatly in the top right hand corner of the net.

Veteran Macarthur forward Eric Williams got his chance when midfielder Richard Harrison was bought down in the box and he coolly bought the scores level with an easy finish from the spot kick.

But for the final ten minutes the game was all Hajduk. Substitute Adrian Macerola was able to turn a couple of defenders on a mazy run from just outside the penalty box and he gave his side the lead when he easily nailed his shot with goalkeeper Glenn Wheatley rooted to his line.

But the final goal for the game fittingly fell to defender Mark Reveley who finished a good match when he pushed forward to support a quick break.

Supporting Arrarte at the back post, Reveley swooped on a loose ball after the Rams players had failed to clear the ball and drilled it into the back of the net.

Deighen mesemerizes Minotaurs

by James Foggo

Dulwich Hill overcame a determined Hurstville Minotaurs outfit on Sunday afternoon at St George Stadium, defeating them 3-1, after conceding the first goal of the match.

Coach Bill Pilovski knew that a win for the Hill in the last round would give them a chance to sneak into third position on the ladder, and thus awarding them a second chance in the finals series.

However the Manly-Warringah Dolphins managed to hold their position of third place after defeating AC United 1-0 on the same day.

Hurstville began the game at a cracking pace looking to finish the season on a winning note.

They managed to convert their zeal into a goal in the 23rd minute when a Dulwich defender miss-timed a header that went backwards and to the direction of Evangelos Petratos who skillfully nailed a volley from 25 out over the keepers head and in to the back of the net for an amazing goal.

However Dulwich Hill soon settled things down through good ball control and hit back with two successive Robert Todorovski goals in the remaining of the half to take the lead at the break.

The first goal came when Todorovski won a challenge after a long ball was put through and then managed to pass keeper Stacy Alogdellis in the 31st minute.

The Hill's second goal came in the 43rd minute in controversial circumstances after some scrappy play in the Minotaur's box saw several shots come agonizingly close to a goal, but only to be deflected by players or the post.

Todorovski's shot, the best of many, hit the cross-bar and bounced directly down, with a Hurstville defender eventually being able to clear.

Although much to everyone's surprise a touch judge had his flag out signalling the shot was a goal and after much discussion with referee Matthew Breeze, the goal was finally awarded.

Despite Hurstville's best efforts in the second half to construct a goal, they were unfortunately left without reward.

Dulwich managed to seal the match in the 75th minute when Ben Deighan mesmerized the Minotaur's defence with untouchable ball skills, which gave him enough time to thunder a shot past keeper Alogdellis and into the back of the net for a 3-1 victory.

Coach Bill Pilovski noted that his teams' performance was unsatisfactory considering that the finals series is next on the agenda for Dulwich Hill.

The Hill will have to play the Rockdale City Suns first up in what will be a knock out match.

Dulwich will field their full squad for the knockout game, with the exception of Edmund Wong who has gone to China for trials, and will not play in the finals.

Overall this season Pilovski is delighted with his teams' performance of coming fourth on the ladder.

"Really when you look at it, we really came first in our division if you take the three Super League teams out of the equation," he said.

Jesus magic saves Jets against rampant Bulls

CROWDS gathered closer and closer to the playing fence as the Fraser Park Jets tensely held on against a mountain of second half pressure for a two all draw with the Fairfield Bulls.

Chances for either team were in abundance, in the opening half an hour; the most clear cut falling to Abbas Saad in only the ninth, when a cross from the left side was misjudged by Bulls 'keeper Frank Mikuletic that flew over his head to the unmarked striker, who could only guide his header wide of a waiting and very open goal.

After 27 minutes, the Bulls peppered the Jets goal with a multitude of chances.

A Pat Darvill cross, was punched clear by Peter Sestah to a waiting Javier Mancino, who volleyed from the edge of the box.

Sestah managed to pull off a save with his feet after seeing the ball late after it travelled through a sea of traffic and the ensuing goal-mouth scramble was eventually belted over the bar.

The forty-minute stalemate was eventually broken by the Bulls after 41 minutes.

A cross from the right hand-side floated to the back post to an unmarked Marc Hoenselaars who from a tight angle nodded the ball back to Stuart Van Bentum waiting just outside the penalty box.

On his less favoured right foot, Van Bentum unleashed a volley that rifled past the left hand of Sestah and into the roof of the net.

This advantage was short lived however, when only two minutes later, the enigmatic Ivo De Jesus equalised.

Receiving the ball in the kick-off circle, De Jesus looked up to see Mikuletic off his line and from a seemingly impossible position cracked a shot that dipped in over Mikuletic's head and into the roof of the net that restored parity to this game and further increased Ivo's cult following.

A goal three minutes after the interval, brought the second half to life.

After a foul on De Jesus, the same player dusted himself to curl in a free kick from the left touchline that Damien Rosenthal met at the near post to toe past Mikuletic, which, deflected off the left upright to trickle over the goal line.

From there on the visitors asserted their authority, creating numerous opportunities in their opponent's goal-mouth.

In the 64th minute a Hoenselaars cross from the left cut out the Fraser Park defence, for Mancino to get a foot to and his well directed shot struck the upright then bounced away to safety.

The Bulls had their equaliser after 26 minutes of the second half.

Left one-on-one against his defender, Paul Dee tricked his way past his marker to run into the penalty area where he squared the ball to an unmarked Hoenselaars who shot from 15 metres, with the ball ricocheting in off the right post for the golden boot elect to claim yet another goal.

The two clearest chances the Bulls had to win this game came very near to the end.

On 87 minutes substitute Johnny Ghisso delivered a magnificent cross that once again cut out the Jets defence that Hoenselaars met well, but whose volley whistled over the bar from only three yards and finally into injury time an Adam Mammoliti through ball played in Ghisso who on his deadly left foot let rip a great volley that Sestah somehow managed to palm away for a corner, to keep the difference between the two teams identical at the end of the match as in the beginning-all even.

MSC shock full strength League Premiers

By Robert Szoszkiewicz

A strong contingent of Lions supporters kept the turnstiles clicking over at Hammonville Oval, as they witnessed their club register the League Premiership courtesy of a 1-1 draw in their final competition match against MSC Liverpool.

Despite their opponents being placed bottom of the table and fielding a side made up of predominantly youngsters, Bankstown coach Claudion Canosa took no chances by playing a near full strength line up in the chase for top spot honours.

Bankstown signaled their intentions early by throwing the ball around the park from the outset.

After just three minutes, Adam Convoy was called on to make the first of his many saves, when he smothered a Hossam Nouh shot following a good run down the right flank by the crowd pleasing Robbie Gomez. Bankstown clearly dominated the opening 45 minutes, but it was Liverpool who created the better chances.

Firstly Brett Hewit put Matt Harrison on a solo run from halfway, before ballooning his shot over the crossbar with only the goal-keeper to beat.

Daniel Willoughby also had a chance on his less favoured right foot, but struck the ball wide from short range.

Finally, with a solid weight of possession, City opened the scoring.

Nouh ran the ball down the right wing before crossing it into the middle for Robert Issa. Issa's initial attempt on goal was blocked by Confoy, but his second effort managed to just cross the goal line, ahead of Confoy's clearance.

Following the interval, the Lions should have extended their lead a number of times, but for poor finishing or desperate Liverpool defence.

In the 65th minute and against the run of play, Liverpool earned a free kick on the advice of the assistant referee.

Scott Watkins stepped up to take the free kick, which was met on the head of Josh Wells and careered into the back of the net for an unexpected equaliser.

MSC's joy was short lived with the sending off of Watkins, leaving the home side with 10 men for the final quarter hour.

They scrambled well though, and held off the Lions to record a 1-1 result.

After the match, a jubilant Bankstown president George Jackson mingled with the delighted Lions fans.

Jackson said, "I am very happy with the result this season, it's good for the club.

"We're thrilled to win the premiership."

The president also went on the announce that on the back of good results this season, Claudio Canosa has been signed on as the Lions Premier League coach.

Canosa too was overjoyed with the result despite today's struggle.

He said, "It was very hard today."

On the other side, caretaker coach Touli Rossides was relatively pleased with his team's effort.

"We had a lot of injuries, and fielded a number of under 18s and 21s including Nathan Miranda, Craig Achurch and Matt Harrison, who had a great game today," he said.

"Our game plan was to play tough and have fun today, and we did," he added.

Sidelined club captain Peter Moon also weighed in on the result adding, "Josh Wells and Brett Hewitt battled hard all day in a tough game.

"One-all was a pleasing result."

Ravaged Rockdale held by Stanmore in six goal duster

by Mendo Cklamovski

The Rockdale City Suns, having secured a finals spot, went into this match without several regular starters.

Midfielders Leo Carle and Marko Vuckovic were rested while keeper Amir Ajanovic is in Bolivia trialing and Richard Plesa won't be back from Europe until next week

Midfielder Steve Cklamovski was also missing due to the passing away of his mother during the week.

Everyone at the Rockdale City Suns soccer club wish to send their sincerest condolences to Steve and his family at this difficult time

Into the Suns lineup came Bill Petrovski and Mirko Jovanov who been on the bench recently as well as Shawn Maple who made his first start for the Suns.

Goalkeeper James Adamo was also making his first appearance in the starting lineup being the third keeper to start for the Suns this season.

On the bench were strikers Anthony Adamo and Peter Cklamovski with youngsters Nathan Trajcevski and Lano Puljic

Despite the numerous changes Rockdale City coach Mile Todoroski was determined to get a positive result.

His wishes looked like they would come true with a positive start by his players.

It was his captain and star striker Spase Najdoski who got the first goal after 12 minutes when he received a floating ball from Mirko Jovanov on the left before cutting in and shooting past the keeper at the near post

Francis Awaritefe should have doubled the score minutes later but wasted a shot on goals after being fed by Mirko Jovanov who also went close midway through the first half.

Spase Najdoski would have also rued his shot on 26 minutes when he had only the keeper to beat but shot wide

Stanmore Hawks had an early speculator from Eddie Briscoe before the Suns keeper James Adamo was called upon late in the half.

The Hawks striker Steve Liavas beat Andrew McHardy before unleashing a shot that Adamo saved in full flight.

Just on half-time Francis Awaritefe had an opportunity to score beating the defence before shooting wide with almost an open goal.

The second half started in similar vain with the Suns being given a penalty in the 56th minute after Francis Awaritefe broke through and was brought down in a clumsy challenge

Spase Najdoski converted from the spot beating the keeper in the left hand corner for his second of the game and 15th overall for the season.

Three minutes later it appeared that the referee was trying to square things up giving Stanmore a weak penalty after Bill Petrovski was alleged to have pushed a Stanmore player in the area.

Yane Talcevski scored from the spot but James Adamo did well to get a hand to the shot driven low on the left.

In the 67th minute Bill Petrovski did what he does well - run at players and finished by placing a low shot beyond the keepers outstretched body for his 2nd goal in two matches.

The Hawks hit back in the 76th minute when Andrew McHardy conceded a free kick on the edge of the area.

Before the wall had been placed Eddie Briscoe took the free kick and beat the keeper following a deflection for a 3-2 scoreline.

Both teams put there substitutes on as Stanmore looked to get a share of the points

It was one of their substitutes, Neil Phillipou, who got their third goal in the last minute of play getting his head onto a cross and beating the keeper with a looping header

While the Suns camp would have been disappointed at not getting full points they will be secure in the knowledge that they will be almost at full strength for next week's finals match.

Stanmore Hawks on the other hand were delighted at forcing a result in their last match of the

The Suns keeper James Adamo had a good match first up despite letting in 3 goals while strikers Spase Najdoski and Francis Awaritefe were always dangerous.

For the Hawks Tyrone Lara, Maurice Soler and Jane Talcevski played well and gave their fans something to cheer about in a relatively disappointing season.
